FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Los Angeles County Air Show Announces Club 42 – A New Show Center Premium Experience

LANCASTER, CA (January 9, 2018) – The Los Angeles County Air Show presented by Lockheed Martin is excited to announce Club 42, an all-new premium experience for 2018 Air Show enthusiasts.

Club 42 is an exciting way for Air Show guests to view the event from show center. In addition to front line viewing, guests will receive entry into a private chalet that offers free buffet lunch, beer, wine, soft drinks, access to private restrooms, swag bags and kid activities. Pricing is only $160 per person and includes parking; children two and under are free.

Branding for the upgraded premium experience was chosen in honor of the familiar and respected United States Air Force Plant 42 Site, which is home to Lockheed Martin's Skunkworks, and a litany of other leading aeronautical companies.

The 2018 Los Angeles County Air Show takes place on March 24-25, 2018 at General William J Fox Airfield in Lancaster. The 2018 event will once again host some of the most thrilling aeronautical performers in the world. This year's Show themed "First, Fastest and Farthest!" — celebrating the Antelope Valley's long history of aeronautical contributions.

In addition to an impressive list of aerial performers, the Los Angeles County Air Show is home to a robust interactive STEM exhibition, extensive static airplane displays, Heroes and Legends History Panel featuring iconic pilots from around the globe and more.
